On December 22, 2019, an investigation was received regarding allegations of internal injuries concerning a 3-month-old infant after the infant was found unresponsive. At the time of the incident, the infant resided in the home with two older siblings, both parents, and two unrelated roomates of the parents.

Based on information received from the parents, on December 21, 2019, the mother left the home to go work at approximately 5:00pm. All three children were left in the care of their father. The father reported that he fed the infant at approximately 8:30pm, and laid him on a crescent shaped pillow on the bed at approximately 9pm. Around 9:40, the father found the infant struggling to breath. He then attempted to suction the infants nose, and blood came out of the infant's nose. The father attempted to contact the mother using Facetime, but she did not answer. The mother called the father back at 9:47pm. The mother called emergency services at 9:50pm. However, records indicate that the father sent the mother a text message at 9:48pm stating that he was trying to get the infant to sleep, and at 10:05pm, he sent another text message to the mother stating that the infant was bleeding out of both nostrils. The call for emergency services was made by the mother after she returned home at 10:14pm.

Due to the injuries, the infant remained on a ventilator with a feeding tube in a dependent and persistent vegetative state. In 2020, the infant was transferred to a skilled nursing facility where he remained until 2025. On 07/02/2025, the child was admitted to the hospital for acute adbdomonal distention, tachycardia, and hypertension. The child was pronounced deceased on 7/3/25.
